

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Director's Statement

Conference Program

Keynote Address: The History of the Rio Grande Compact of 1938

Douglas R. Littlefield, Littlefield Historical Research

Other Historical Perspectives on the Rio Grande Compact

Post Compact Delivery of Water by New Mexico

Philip Mutz, retired, Office of the State Engineer

Delivery of San Juan Water to the Otowi Gage

Fred Allen, retired, Office of the State Engineer

Rio Grande Underground Water Basin Declared

Jim Williams, retired, Office of the State Engineer

How We Dealt with the Drought of the '50s: A Panel Discussion

Gary Esslinger, Elephant Butte Irrigation District (moderator)

Rudy Provencio,

Ted Cox

John Clayshulte,

Tribal Perspectives on the Rio Grande Compact

Blane Sanchez, Pueblo Tribal Member

Peter Chestnut, general counsel, Acoma and San Ildefonso Pueblos

How Colorado Meets Its Obligation Under the Rio Grande Compact

Steve Vandiver, Colorado Division of Water Resources

Hydrology and Key Accounting Components of the Compact

Conrad Keyes, Environmental and Water Resources Institute

Surface Water Hydrology of the Rio Grande Basin

Lee Wilson, Lee Wilson & Associates

Overview of the Groundwater Hydrology of the Rio Grande Basin

John Hawley, Emeritus Senior Geologist, NM Tech, Bureau of Mines and

Mike Kernodle, geohydrologist

Current Water Budget of the Middle Rio Grande Basin

Frank Titus, hydrogeologist

Steve Hansen, Bureau of Reclamation

What is the Water Supply: Integrating Water Budget Studies

Deborah Hathaway, Papadopulos & Associates

Proposed Middle Rio Grande Guidelines for Review of Water Rights Applications

John D'Antonio, Office of the State Engineer

Paleohydrology of the Rio Grande

Neal Ackerly, Dos Rios Consultants, Inc.

Current and Projected San Juan/Chama Water Use

Jaci Gould, Bureau of Reclamation

John Stomp, City of Albuquerque

Mike Hamman, City of Santa Fe

New Mexico's Obligation and Compliance under the Rio Grande Compact

Norman Gaume, Interstate Stream Commission

Consequences of Noncompliance

Charles DuMars, University of New Mexico School of Law

Do We Need Water Markets?

John Hernandez, Professor Emeritus, New Mexico State University

Lee Brown, Professor Emeritus, University of New Mexico

Upper Rio Grande Basin Water Operations Review and Environmental Impact Statement

Major David Guzman, Corps of Engineers

History and Significance of the Low-Flow Conveyance Channel: What is its Future?

Chris Gorbach, Bureau of Reclamation

Domestic Well Depletions in the Rio Grande Basin

John Shomaker, John Shomaker & Associates

Demographic Trends and Water Demand: New Mexico, El Paso and Ciudad Juárez

Jim Peach, New Mexico State University

Opportunities and Constraints for Environmental Enhancement and Recreation Along the Rio Grande

Brian Hanson, US Fish and Wildlife Service

Steve Harris, Rio Grande Restoration

Concluding Panel: Issues and Concerns

Bob Armstrong, Federal Rio Grande Compact Commissioner

Steve Vandiver, representing the Colorado Rio Grande Compact Commissioner

Tom Turney, New Mexico Rio Grande Compact Commissioner

Joe Hanson, Texas Rio Grande Compact Commissioner

New Mexico Water Conference Advisory Committee

Water Conference Participant List